Three Youths Battle Police, Land In Jail

Charges of resisting an officer were placed against a trio of rowdies this morning by Chief of Police Garfield Robson, followed a free-for-all, rough and tumble fight late Saturday night.

The three under arrest are: Joe McCarthy, William Anderson and Walter Cowley.

The row started in Austin's beer and lunch resort, when Robson placed McCarthy under arrest for using foul and abusive lanquage toward a young woman who was serving the lunch. McCarthy refused to accompany Robson to the jail and started a fight. Robson drew his club but before he could use it, Anderson and Cowley tried to rescue McCarthy. The officer went to the floor with McCarthy.

Other patrons of the resort now stepped in to assist Robson. He finally got to his feet but in the meantime McCarthy rushed out into Broad street where Night Officer Bill Jones took a hand in the malee. Between the two McCarthy was finally ushered into jail.

Robson then returned and found Anderson and Cowley in Muscardini's. When he arrested them, they both jumped on him and one of them gave him a wallop in the eye. Jones and Robson plied their sticks with good effect and finally landed them both in the city jail. Yesterday morning they were removed to the county jail. The chief was still wearing his merit badge today.

Resisting an officer is a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum sentence of five years in the county jail.

All three men, the chief of police states, had been drinking to excess. In the county jail the three were "mugged and printed." Robson states that none of them were employed though he believes that McCarthy has lived in this vicinity for over two years. So far as known the three have not been in trouble before.

HERE'S ANOTHER FIGHTER

Edward Ala, a miner, 41 years old, engaged in a bout with Officer Herbert Hallett yesterday afternoon, when the latter attempted to arrest Ala for peace disturbance. Ala got in one good punch which knocked Hallett off his legs. Hallett came back vigorously however with his "billy" and soon had the obstreperous customer in jail. He will be charged before Police Judge Couglin.

NEVADA MINING TAKES OVER BIG BUZZARD MINE

The Big Buzzard mine, nine miles north east of Folsom, in which J. W. Howard, formerly of Grass Valley, has been interested, has been taken over by D. Sharpstone of Elko, Nevada. He plans to erect a modern flotation plant on the property.

There are approximately 2,000 tons of heavy sulphide ore on the dumps which will average better than $15 a ton.

The shaft on the property is 300 feet deep, exposing a vein averaging from 5 to 30 feet in width.

There is about 15,000 tons of ore blocked out, which will average around $13.50 per ton. This ore is principally sulphide ore in talcose slate. It contains about 1.7 percent copper, 5.10 per cent lead, and from 4 to 17 percent of zinc. The silver is closely associated with the lead and runs as high as 30 per cent in value.

Ed C. Uren, mining engineer of this city, went to Folsom Wednesday and made a report of the property. D. Sharpstone represents Minnesota capital.

FREIGHTING FRANCHISE OF ALPHA STORES OKEY

Under a recent decision the State Railroad Commission set aside it's previous order cancelling the franchise of Alpha Hardware and Supply Co., to operate an automobile freight truck line between Nevada City, Forest City and Alleghany and reinstated the franchise. The matter was originally heard a year ago and following the original decision a rehearing was granted, as a result of which the freight line operative right was restored.

LEONG KIDDIES WRITE TO OLD FRIENDS HERE

Two little children of Eddie Leong, who last year returned to Canton, China, sound a bit homesick for Nevada City in these two letters which they have written to a friend here. The letters, in handwriting, astonishingly good for small tads, are as follows:

Dear Friend:

We received your funny papers and thank you very much for it. I am very sorry that I have not wrote to you earlier because we have to go to school and when school is out it is very late. Saturdays haves schools just Sundays hadsnt.

Ex-Convict Murders Ex-Convict In Brawl

Fred Broun, resident of Ivy street, Grass Valley, accused of murdering James Perry, an itinerant, Saturday afternoon, is in the county jail and with him is Ray Turner, another itinerant, held as a material witness.

Broun was arrested on the Grass Valley streets, after being identified by Turner, following a fight and the killing in the "jungles" near the Narrow Gauge cut close to Grass Valley.

Turner's story was that all three had been drinking and returned to the "jungles" with food late Saturday afternoon. An altercation arose over the cooking of the food and Broun is said to have belabored Perry and Turner with a pick handle. According to Turner, Perry went inside the small tin hut and lay down, Broun returned to Grass Valley and came back with a revolver, took a shot at Turner who escaped in the woods, then entered the hut and fired a bullet through Perry's head. Another shot grazed his shoulder. The body was removed by Coroner A. M. Holmes.

An X-ray taken by Coroner Andy Holmes and Sheriff Carter of Perry's body at the county hospital yesterday revealed the location of the bullet which was extracted and held as evidence.

All three men engaged in the fight were either criminals or had been on trial for crime. Broun was a three time loser. He was paroled from Carson State prison in Nevada last May. Perry, the murdered man, was also known as Mike Lund, White or Conway and had served a term in Folsom. His identity was established by finger prints taken by the sheriff and submitted to the state identification bureau. Turner was recently tried for burglary in Modesto but not convicted.

Broun's revolver a 45 calibre, the largest gun, Sheriff Carter states, he ever saw, was found under his bed Saturday night.

Following the shooting of Perry, witnessed by another itinerant named Alec Thompson, Broun followed Thompson up the hill from the jungle where Thompson was cooking his supper. Broun with his big revolver weaving about unsteadily in his hand asked:

"What did you see down there?"

Thompson answered hastily:

"I didn't see nothin;".

"Well gimme something to eat," commanded Broun, and Thompson divided his supper.

Perry it developed had received a frightful wallop in the fight earlier in the afternoon with Broun who weilded the pick handle. Perry's head was laid open across the top. He had retired to his hut and was unable to rise when Broun returned and finished him with his big revolver.

Politics

There is much jockeying for place just now among candidates for Governor of California. "Gus" Johnson, state treasurer, has announced his willingness to run, but not that he will run for office. He is deluging newspaper offices with publicity on what he will do in event he does run and is elected. Most of this correspondence goes into the waste basket.

Senator Jones has announced that he is a candidate. He too is flooding editorial waste baskets with "publicity." Very little of it appears in print.

Lieutenant Governor Merriam of Long Beach asks promotion to the gubernatorial office but thus far has refrained from asking editors to carry on a free campaign for him. An old newspaper man himself, he knows how that is. But he is very busy with members of the old California Press Association of which he and former Governor Richardson are members. He hopes for a good press support. He may get it in Southern California but in the north he will have to pay.

Governor Rolph, health permitting, will be a candidate. His circle of friends in state appointive offices will see to it that he makes the race so that they can hold their jobs. They will battle for Rolph's relection. Quite naturally, with CWA folding up May 1, all Rolph appointees will be reluctant to get off the payroll January 1.

Regarding the Rolph candidacy, it may surprise many to know, that his spending the $30,000,000 in the state treasury, with which he entered office, and an additional $30,000,000 in the red, a total of $60,000,000, and nothing much to show for it, is not counted to his detriment in many portions of the state. Thousands of those who have been given work out of state funds on highways and other public enterprises bless Rolph for spending the State's surplus and plunging the state into debt. Rolph today is probably the strongest candidate in the field.

However, many believe if former Governor C. C. Young would enter the race, with his splendid record of economy and efficiency, he could win the Republican nomination. As yet Young has given no sign of his intentions.

The Democratic party, however, will have a candidate. Whether the leaders like it or not, it may be Upton Sinclair. He is sending out his epic plan to End Poverty In California to thousands of voters. He proposes that the state shall take over vast areas of tax forfeited land and settle upon it those families in the country that are now on the relief rolls. The other half of the plan is to take over bankrupt factories in the cities and put jobless workmen to work. The country workers would send their products to the city, and city workers their products to the country. His plan is barter on a grand scale. Ultimately this system, Mr. Sinclair frankly points out, would undermine and replace the present capitalistic system which broke down under the depression.

Then there is Justus Wardell, perennial blooming Democratic candidate for any good job, who is also reported in the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. At present Wardell is PWA administrator in California. The PWA can't last forever, does not pay as well as the governorship, and of course Wardell will be a candidate if the cards fall right. Wardell is an old-line, old-time Democrat, and a hard shell conservative. No greater contrast could be presented than a race between Sinclair and Wardell for the Democratic nomination.

Los Angeles Democrats are grooming one or two other candidates for the race. Sinclair lives in that part of the state.

All in all, it is probable that never before in California history, will the course be so crowded—as when the race for governor gets under way. It will be worth seeing this throng when it moves out into the home stretch come next August.

No one can predict the outcome because the reactions of the people to the Roosevelt NRA program will for the first time in this state be reflected at the polls. The landslide to Roosevelt and Democratic candidates for Congress, however, would indicate that, unless something unforeseen transpires between now and August, a Democratic candidate for Governor of the right calibre would stand the best chance of election.

Things One Remembers

The air is filled with theoretical schemes to stabilize industry and agriculture.

We wonder if what industry needs most isn't more good, old fashioned character, integrity and experience in owners and operators of various properties.

We are moved to make these remarks after looking over a statement of the Bank of California, that has been run strictly as a bank—no side issues—no frills—since 1864.

It has paid its 10 per cent annual dividend, depression or no depression, and generally an extra 2 per cent. Its ratio of capital to deposits is 1 to 5.13.

Can legislation produce that kind of bank management?

A good practical farmer that we know, bought a team for $300 a few years ago, when his neighbor bought a tractor for $3,000. The "horse farmer" has made a consistent profit out of his farm, even during the depression, and his team is as efficient today as when he bought it. The "tractor farmer" is broke—too much capital invested for the possible earning power of the land. The tractor is on the scrap heap.

As with banks, so with farming; their salvation depends on men who "know the business." All the "relief measures" in the world cannot save the inefficient, the wasteful and the ignorant from failure.

Cabbages and Kings

By CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN

We have had Doggie Monti for eight years and of course we are all very fond of this now tragic looking, aged derelict of what was once a small frolicsome smart, brown dog with aristocratic airdale ancestry plainly visible in his noble carriage. Monti has never been any bother to us nor for that matter to any one else. If we moved, Monti was glad to sit anywhere in the car quietly until our destination was reached.

Of late Mont's coat looks scraggly and dishevelled and the other day he was either pushed, or he fell into the water accidently and what a terrible sight he is. Doggie Monti was given to Erik by Mrs. J. C. Todd of Monterey on his first Christmas and I happen to know that Mrs. Todd imported Monti from England and that she gave six dollars for this aristocrat of dogdom. I must tell you, however, that poor old Monti has never been able to bark. He was born without a voice. You could'nt help but love him. Monti was made in a factory from wollen yarn covered with a beautiful wooly coat.

Hearst in his radio address yesterday said that this was a business nation, that business had built it. Granted, but now that the nation is built (thanks to Mr. Hearst) and we are to have more leisure, won't it be a good time to devote more time to the cultural adjuncts which makes life more abundant and tolerable? Teachers are not yet awake to this sort of program and in consequence are not prepared to show the way to our youth. Even those who are in superintending jobs are not aware to the new necessity. It will take artistic awakening of the entire country and that will take years.

It seems true enough that we are in the grasp of standards of education which in fact standardize our youth. You might say that this expression had it's beginning in England. Be that as it may, the fact remains that very few of our public school graduates have been taught to think. I realize and know that there are efforts in that direction. So far very little has been accomplished, but the parents must be willing and ABLE to supplement the work of the public teacher. The character of the youth must be impressed with the great idea of really being able to think.

Somehow Easter suggest color and at this time of year color suggests Easter. I hear the Mrs. talking about new Easter frocks for the two girls and herself. If they get them I'll be watching the Easter Parade.

Query:—
What makes Nevada City?
Answer:—
Bennetts is our Mayor.
Robson is our chief of police.
Judge Mobley.
Kopp is the baker.
It's a mining town.
The mining men congregate on the corners.
The Nugget publishes facts.
It is the economic white spot on the coast.
It is the county seat of Nevada county.
BECAUSE OF THE LARGE PAYROLL OF THE MINES SITUATED HERE.

By the way have you noticed that almost any evening of the week the parking spaces are nearly all taken up. Seems like old times again, and we aren't even started yet.

A neighbor has a beautiful all yellow canary called Lindy. Some months ago Lindy stopped singing although previously he had been very generous in this respect. It was thought that if he came to our house and heard our canary sing (for Dickey is a splendid singer) that he would again sing as he previously had. The cages were hung close to each other. All the birds did was to sit and glare at each other and as neither did any singing, we gave up the idea of having one canary teach another how to sing.

As was predicted in this column last week, Tom Davies of Alleghany was appointed by Governor Rolph to be supervisor of Sierra county. Good luck, Tom.

CWA TO SPEND 44 MILLION IN STATE BY MAY 1

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 12.—Approximately $44,000,000 will have been distributed in California by the Federal Civil Works Administration when demobilization is completed on May 1.

That was revealed here by Edward Macauley, Administrator for California, after receiving estimates on expenditures for the final phase of the work.

Of the total amount which will have been expended, it was estimated that approximately $38,000,000 will be for salaries. The balance is for materials purchased for CWA projects.

When the payroll for the week ending March 1, is disbursed in its entirety the CWA will have distributed approximately $29,000,000 to the people of California in the form of wages and salaries.

"This figure represents a vast sum of money which has gone into the channels of trade in California since the inception of the CWA," Captain Macauley declared. "It is money which, had it not been for the CWA, never would have been released in the state."

TOM DAVIES, NEW SIERRA COUNTY SUPERVISOR

Thomas Davies, miner, of Alleghany, has been named by Governor Rolph, to fill the vacancy, caused by the death of Supervisor Campbell, on the Sierra county board of supervisors.

GAME BOARD HAS BUREAU TO SAVE STRANDED FISH

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 8.—The State Fish and Game Commission maintains a fish rescue bureau, and this important unit of the divison was responsible during 1933 for saving for the anglers of California 2,766,342 game fish. Those rescued comprised some 13 varieties.

These fish were taken from lands flooded from irrigation ditches and canals, or from waterways that during the summer months did not carry enough water to sustain fish life. Game wardens assisted greatly in this important work.

Large-mouth black bass led in the number rescued, 1,659,222 of this species being saved. Most of them were returned to the sloughs and waterways of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers, though a large number was allotted to sportsmen's clubs for distribution.

The small-mouth and large-mouth black bass is fast finding favor wherever they have been planted, and in waters not suitable for trout they are furnishing the sportsmen with plenty of enjoyment.

Other varieties saved during the year are: Bluegill sunfish, 442,345; green sunfish (perch) 307,431; catfish 292,344; striped bass 8,701; 8,701; calico bass 41,440; and several thousand trout.

During the past five years over 20,000,000 game fish have been rescued by the Division of Fish and Game's rescue bureau and wardens. These fish have been put in waters where the supply has diminished or where restocking was necessary to meet increased demands of anglers. It is estimated that the cost of rescuing these fish does not exceed a dollar a thousand, which is only a fraction of what it takes to raise by artificial propagation those species that can be so developed.

Many tons o nfon-game fish, which prey on sport fish or reduce the supply of the latter, are also taken annually by the rescue bureau and given to farmers for fertilizer.

Major and Mrs. Frank Chapman went to San Francisco Friday. Major Chapman will be under medical treatment while there at Letterman's hospital.

GOLD RUSH STARTS ON HIGHWAY WORK

Near Loomis, the construction of the highway started a mild gold rush as values were found in some of the excavations made by the highway workers. However, the necessity for completing the contract put a quick halt to mining operations. Several miners reported taking out values from $20 to $40 each during the few days mining was possible.

Through a continuous campaign of thrift education over a long period of years, Bank of America has encouraged sensible saving throughout California.
